European Democracy Workshops 2007 at Budapest

July 15 - 20 &
July 22 - 27, 2007

workshops

Young people with multicultural, -ethnic and religious background come together, meet and face each other share experiences of cultural diversity and tolerance in common projects. Young people will work out intercultural competencies and knowledge in the "Workshops of Democracy", which are conceptual designed as 'one-week-projects' within 'two-week-summer-meetings'. So young people will build up sustainable and long during relations and friendship. The participating partner-organisations are conversant in the field of youth-work and have many experiences in non formal and informal processes of education and learning. They will start to build up a network and intensify their cooperation: "European network of Workshops of Democracy (EU-Net WoD)".

cultural diversity & tolerance concrete

Within the three-year-project „European Workshops Of Democracy – Cultural Diversity And Tolerance Concrete” we strengthen social and civil actors and link the structures of the participating partner-organisations of the project. Together we organize "Workshops of Democracy" [WoD] based on non-formal and informal education and learning. This way we develop ideas and solutions for European and intercultural topics, problems and conflicts.

topics, methods & realisation

For that purpose intercultural mixed teams:

- will qualify young people for multipliers in the sense of active European citizenship (European teamerpool)
- will develop training material and methods especially for intercultural learning and anti-racist - project-work
- will initiate (set off) a European network of "Workshops of Democracy" between 'East and West'
- will create and organize sustainable non-formal education for young people (peer group education)

network

Target is a sustainable and effective cooperation as well as long during network with follow up actions – especially in Eastern and Central Europe. 'Workshops of democracy' as well as building up a 'European teamerpool' are our contribution to the process of European integration. That's what we think and that's what we want to do – animating this process.
